

There's more than meets the eye with Unum Dental

Nearly 3 in 5 adults last eye test was more than a year ago¹, but going for an eye exam will not just tell you if you need glasses or a change of prescription it's also an important eye health check. Opticians can help spot many general health problems and eye conditions during the exam².

Our new and improved optical insurance encourages your workforce and their insured dependants to maintain good eye health. We keep an eye on the future by providing cover towards the cost of regular eye exams as well as help towards the cost of frames, lenses and contact lenses.
